I worked my way up through the ranks assisting on drama, commercials and documentary under a wide variety of camera people. This work as an assistant paved the way for a career as a Director of Photography.

Over the past 17 years as DOP I am lucky to have shot films that have been awarded numerous awards including BAFTA, RTS and Grierson. I have filmed diverse subjects in equally diverse environments and conditions. I have been fortunate enough to travel to over 100 countries shooting both fiction and documentary. I have shot on a variety of formats, from Super 8 to 4k and on most camera systems. "Single" documentary films and series such as Cutting Edge, Modern Times, Storyville, Body Shock, One life, Dispatches and Horizon have allowed me to experience and learn so much.

Documentaries and then drama-docs led me to fiction and whilst these three genres are often radically different they all have the same requirement; to tell the story with interesting pictures, eliciting narrative and emotion. Working in an ever-demanding industry where time and budget must sit with creativity and high production values, it is these experiences that I draw upon. There are times for minimalism yet there are times that a "bigger" set up is essential to maintain scene continuity and control. The key is to know what to employ when. The joy of what I do is there is always something new; you never stop learning, a cliché but true.
